a charming account of a daughter a house and a fastidious dad sunday times shelly klein grew up in the scottish borders in a house designed on a modernist open plan grid with colourful glass panels set against a forest of trees it was like living in a work of art her father bernat klein was a textile designer whose pioneering colours and textures were a major contribution to 1960s and 70s style thirty years on shelly moves back home to care for her father now in his eighties the house has not changed and neither has his uncompromising vision or his distinctive way of looking at the world told with great tenderness and humour this is shelly's account of looking after an adored yet maddening parent and a piercing portrait of the grief that followed his death a sad funny utterly fascinating book about families home and how to say goodbye mark haddon original moving and bracingly honest often hilarious blake morrison guardian it is strange that grief should produce such a life affirming book but it has read it for the solace it contains or for its captivating descriptions either way it s a delight telegraph
